

Liberty and Security Today: A New Normal?

Thursday, Feb 26, 2015

7pm – 8:30pm

Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

Jacob Burns Moot Court Room

Reception to follow

Please RSVP to cardozo.clihhr@yu.edu

Given renewed fears of terrorism driven by the rise of ISIS and their skilled use of social media, how is the continuing conflict over security and liberty evolving? What can we expect in the future as the renewal of the Patriot Act looms and debate over authorizations for the use of force and surveillance come to the floor of Congress?

Is there a new normal? And if so, what does it mean for civil liberties and for the safety and security of Americans?

Panelists

Jameel Jaffer, Deputy Legal Director, ACLU

Deborah Pearlstein, Associate Professor of Law, Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

Scott Shane, New York Times

Moderator

Karen J. Greenberg, Director, Center on National Security at Fordham Law School

NYSCLE: 1.5 transitional/non-transitional CLE credits in the category “Areas of Professional Practice.” To register for CLE credits, please RSVP to cardozo.clihhr@yu.edu

Balancing Security and Justice